REHABILITATION AND MENTAL HEALTH COUNSELING, MASTER OF SCIENCE (M.S.)

Program accreditation
Council on Rehabilitation Education

Department goals
- To provide students with educational experiences that facilitate the development of knowledge, skills and values necessary to practice as a licensed professional counselor and certified rehabilitation counselor
- To provide students with learning opportunities that foster culturally responsive and ethical counseling practices
- To provide students with clinical training environments that prepare them to work in a variety of counseling settings

Program objectives
- Develop a well-rounded education in rehabilitation and mental health counseling
- Advance the basic philosophical tenets of rehabilitation, including the value and worth of all individuals, a belief in human dignity, and the right of all persons to fully participate in society
- Exercise skills and competencies on a high ethical level and with personal integrity
- Acquire a comprehensive understanding of the personal, social, vocational and psychological needs of persons with disabilities

Student learning outcomes
Upon completion of the program, the graduate will be able to:
- Demonstrate the ability to function ethically and effectively within settings that offer counseling, advocacy and related services to diverse populations
- Understand a range of counseling theories and skills applicable in a pluralistic society with individuals, groups, couples and families, as well as demonstrate the ability to apply this knowledge in a therapeutic manner to promote change and growth.
- Understand and apply the stages of development throughout the lifespan, including developmental goals, when working with individuals, regardless of disability or other impairing conditions
- Understand and apply career development theory and tools
- Demonstrate the ability to apply case management techniques with an understanding of the range of community resources available
- Demonstrate the appropriate use of assessment techniques when working with individuals and utilize relevant information within the counseling process
- Demonstrate the ability to evaluate professional research literature and incorporate such information into their professional development
- Demonstrate the knowledge and skills necessary to be an effective professional counselor through supervised practicum and internship experience

VCU Graduate Bulletin, VCU Graduate School and general academic policies and regulations for all graduate students in all graduate programs

The VCU Graduate Bulletin website documents the official admission and academic rules and regulations that govern graduate education for all graduate programs at the university. These policies are established by the graduate faculty of the university through their elected representatives to the University Graduate Council.

It is the responsibility of all graduate students, both on- and off-campus, to be familiar with the VCU Graduate Bulletin as well as the Graduate School website (http://www.graduate.vcu.edu/) and academic regulations in individual school and department publications and on program websites. However, in all cases, the official policies and procedures of the University Graduate Council, as published on the VCU Graduate Bulletin and Graduate School websites, take precedence over individual program policies and guidelines.

Visit the academic regulations section for additional information on academic regulations for graduate students. (http://bulletin.vcu.edu/academic-regs/)

Degree candidacy requirements
A graduate student admitted to a program or concentration requiring a final research project, work of art, thesis or dissertation, must qualify for proceeding to the final research phase of the degree program. As graduate students approach the end of their academic programs and the final semester of matriculation, they must make formal application to the faculty regarding the student’s academic achievements and the student’s readiness to proceed to the final research phase of the degree program.

Graduation requirements
As graduate students approach the end of their academic programs and the final semester of matriculation, they must make formal application to graduate. No degrees will be conferred until the application to graduate has been finalized.

Graduate students and program directors should refer to the following degree candidacy policy as published in the VCU Graduate Bulletin for complete information and instructions.

Visit the academic regulations section for additional information on degree candidacy requirements. (http://bulletin.vcu.edu/academic-regs/grad/candidacy/)

Other information
A student handbook is made available to students through a closed electronic system (Blackboard) and at new student orientation.

Apply online at graduate.admissions.vcu.edu (http://www.graduate.admissions.vcu.edu).

Special requirements

- Full- and part-time students can be accommodated by the program. Applications are reviewed on an ongoing basis. To be considered, all pertinent materials must be received in the department by March 1.

In addition to the general admission requirements of the VCU Graduate School (http://bulletin.vcu.edu/graduate/study/admission-graduate-study/admission-requirements/), applicants must meet the following requirements:

- Satisfactory performance in undergraduate education (based upon transcripts provided to Graduate Admissions)
- Three positive letters of reference from professors, employers or relevant sources
- Satisfactory performance on either the GRE or the MAT
- A relevant and clear statement of goals for graduate study and career
- Statement of previous work or volunteer experience

A personal interview with a faculty member may also be required.

A complete set of application materials is available from the Graduate Admissions website (http://www.graduate.admissions.vcu.edu).

Degree requirements

In addition to general VCU Graduate School graduation requirements (http://bulletin.vcu.edu/academic-reg/grad/graduation-info/), the minimum degree requirement is 60 graduate credits, including 48 credits of didactic course work, 100 hours of fieldwork, 600 hours of internship and three credits of electives.

Graduates from accredited rehabilitation counseling programs are typically trained in counseling theory and techniques; individual, group and environmental assessment; psychosocial and medical aspects of disability; human development; cultural diversity; principles of psychiatric rehabilitation, case management and rehabilitation planning; issues and ethics in rehabilitation service delivery; technological adaptation; vocational evaluation and work adjustment; career counseling; implementation of the Americans with Disabilities Act; job development; and placement.

According to CORE Standards and the requirements of the department, students must have supervised rehabilitation and mental health counseling fieldwork and internship experiences that include:

- A minimum of 100 clock hours of fieldwork experience (as part of RHAB 692)
- A minimum of 600 clock hours of internship experience in rehabilitation and mental health settings (as part of RHAB 695 or RHAB 696)
- Written expectations and procedures for these experiences that are distributed to students and agency supervisors
- The following activities:
  - Orientation to program components, policies and procedures
  - Introduction to staff and their roles and functions
  - Identification of the expectations for students
  - Observation of all aspects of the delivery of rehabilitation and mental health counseling services
  - Work assignments performing the tasks required of an employed rehabilitation and mental health counselor in a rehabilitation and mental health setting from intake to discharge and/or placement
  - Reporting, including all required academic reports as well as logs, weekly progress reviews and summaries of activities
  - Evaluation of student performance by the agency supervisor and the faculty supervisor, including self-evaluation by the student

Internship experiences shall be carried out under the regularly scheduled supervision of a CRC and LPC. The quality of supervision shall be maintained by involvement of VCU faculty in terms of in-service training, consultation, information and the provision of professional development resources to agency supervisors.

Transfer credit

A maximum of 12 graduate credit hours may be transferred from another VCU graduate program or outside institution if not applied previously to another degree. Transfer credit hours must carry a minimum grade of B from an accredited institution. Acceptance of transfer credit hours is made at the level of the department chair and dean of the School of Allied Health Professions. Transfer credit hours earned as a nondegree-seeking graduate student are limited to six credit hours. Credit hours earned as deficiency hours or to demonstrate the ability to compete at the graduate level, though transferable, may not be applied to the 48-credit-hour program of study.
