MASS COMMUNICATIONS,
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE (B.S.)
WITH A CONCENTRATION IN PUBLIC RELATIONS

The Richard T. Robertson School of Media and Culture offers a Bachelor of Science in Mass Communications with concentrations in one of three areas: advertising, journalism or public relations. The public relations concentration is designed to prepare students for employment in industry, government, nonprofit associations and public relations agencies.

Learning outcomes

Upon completing this program, students will know and know how to do the following:

• Write correctly and clearly in forms and styles appropriate for the communication professions, audiences and purposes they serve.
• Conduct research and evaluate information by methods appropriate to the communication professions in which they work.
• Critically evaluate their own work and that of others for accuracy and fairness, clarity, appropriate style and grammatical correctness.
• Apply tools and technologies appropriate for the communication professions in which they work.
• Apply basic numerical and statistical concepts.
• Think critically, creatively and independently.
• Demonstrate an understanding of the history and role of professionals and institutions in shaping communications.
• Understand and apply the principles and laws appropriate to the communication professions in which they work, including copyright and trademark law.
• Demonstrate an understanding of the diversity of groups in a global society in relationship to communications.
• Demonstrate an understanding of professional ethical principles and work ethically.
• Establish an environment that encourages, supports and reinforces professionalism at all levels of learning.
• Understand concepts and apply theories in the use and presentation of images and information.

Special requirements

The overview section of the Robertson School of Media and Culture explains the requirements for students to be admitted to, and remain in, the foundation program or a specific concentration in the school.

Students must earn at least 72 credits in courses outside mass communications. In addition, students must earn a total of 45 credits in courses at the 300-level and above, including upper-level mass communications course work. To graduate from the mass communications program, students must have a cumulative and major GPA of 2.5 and must earn a minimum grade of C in their senior-level capstone courses. The mass communications curriculum includes the foundation and specific concentrations.

Foundation course work for public relations students

MASC 101; MASC 203 with a minimum grade of C; MASC 210 with a minimum grade of C; and completion of UNIV 111, UNIV 112, POLI 103, ECON 203 and the College of Humanities and Sciences’ math and statistics (must choose STAT 208 OR STAT 210), science and technology, and diverse and global communities requirements. Completion of both ECON 210 and ECON 211 may substitute for ECON 203.

To enroll in MASC 203, students must receive departmental permission.

To enroll in a mass communications course, majors must have earned a minimum grade of C in all courses prerequisite for that course.
