

SOCIAL WORK, MASTER OF (M.S.W.)/GENDER VIOLENCE INTERVENTION, CERTIFICATE IN (POST-BACCALAUREATE GRADUATE CERTIFICATE) [DUAL DEGREE AND CERTIFICATE]

Advanced study in social work and gender violence intervention is available through a dual degree program co-sponsored by the School of Social Work and the L. Douglas Wilder School of Government and Public Affairs.

The program allows students to earn a Master of Social Work and Certificate in Gender Violence Intervention with 60 credits rather than the 75 credits necessary if the two degrees were pursued separately. This efficiency lowers the overall cost of tuition while also reducing time to earn both degrees.

Program goals

The objectives of this dual degree and certificate program are to:

- Apply gender violence academic concepts to practice
- Guide students in the development of professional behaviors and boundaries while working in gender violence intervention settings
- Develop knowledge of common types of gender violence and related policies
- Prepare graduates to work in gender violence settings with diverse populations

Among the many benefits offered by participation in the dual degree program are the following:

- The ability to gain special knowledge and skills focused on interpersonal violence that prepares students for work in agency community settings that serve people affected by interpersonal violence
- The opportunity for social work practicums in community agencies working with multidisciplinary teams and utilizing multitheoretical frameworks specifically with cases and clients impacted by interpersonal violence.

The diplomas for this dual degree and certificate program are awarded simultaneously, after completion of the requirements for each degree program. Students receive both degrees upon graduation from VCU.

Student learning outcomes

See the individual program pages for student learning outcomes.

Other information

Advising

The student is assigned an adviser from each program to develop a plan of study. Advisers coordinate regarding program curricula as appropriate. Primarily, the coordination occurs to ensure that M.S.W. students complete a social work field placement that aligns with the requirements of the Certificate in Gender Violence Intervention.

Once students are admitted and enrolled in the certificate program, they should consult the certificate adviser when they choose their field placements to ensure that at least one placement is conducted in a setting that addresses sexual or domestic violence.

Admission requirements

Students must meet the admission requirements for each program. Admission into one program does not guarantee admission into the other. See the individual program pages for admission deadlines and other requirements, as they may vary by concentration.

To view a list of the current admission deadlines, visit the School of Social Work's website.

Application procedures

To enroll in the Certificate in Gender Violence Intervention simultaneously with the M.S.W., students must complete a graduate application for the certificate program and pay the required fee to Graduate Admissions; however, no supporting information is required for students who are already enrolled in good standing in the M.S.W. program.

Applicants will need to complete an online application through Graduate Admissions, pay the application fee and submit a personal statement expressing their interest in the program and indicating that they are currently in the M.S.W. program. Students may email the Graduate School to arrange for references, resume/CV and transcripts already on file from the M.S.W. program to be added to the application.

Dual degree and certificate requirements

As standalone programs, the M.S.W. comprises 60 credits while the certificate requires 15 credits. The dual degree and certificate program allows students to share 15 credits, therefore decreasing total credits to completion from 75 to 60.

In the dual degree and certificate program, these courses within the M.S.W. satisfy requirements in the certificate:

Sample plan of study

General sequence of dual degree program

Students in the Master of Social Work and Certificate in Gender Violence Intervention program spend the first year immersed in the M.S.W curriculum. Beginning in the second year, student registration is primarily in the M.S.W. curriculum, with an elective course in the L. Douglas Wilder School of Government and Public Affairs. During the fall semester of their concentration year, students complete SLWK 761; during the spring semester of their concentration year, students complete GVPA 635. These certificate requirements satisfy the electives for the M.S.W. Students are required to complete one of their two social work field practicums in an agency providing sexual or domestic violence services during their time in the program.
