

GRADUATE INFORMATION

Nondegree-seeking students

Students who have not been admitted to a graduate program in nursing may be admitted to individual courses. Permission to register for courses is granted at the discretion of the School of Nursing. Only 12 credits earned as a nondegree-seeking student can be applied to a graduate degree. Only three credits may be earned by post-professional certificate students prior to admission.

Enrollment

Students will begin study during the fall semester, with the exception of post-professional certificate students, who will start in the spring term. Students will have an academic adviser appointed and will follow the standard program of study. Once admitted, students are expected to abide by enrollment policies of the Graduate School.
