

CENTER FOR BIOLOGICAL DATA SCIENCE

Michael S. Rosenberg, Ph.D.
Director

cbds.vcu.edu \(https://cbds.vcu.edu/\)

The Center for Biological Data Science is a multidisciplinary focus of research and scholarly activity within VCU Life Sciences. The mission of the center is to teach and advance interdisciplinary quantitative and computational data science for the life sciences, to provide experiential education in bioinformatics, and to promote collaborative and reproducible research.

Students who complete the requirements for this degree will receive a Master of Science in Bioinformatics.
