

M.D.-M.S. DUAL DEGREE OPPORTUNITIES

Students in the Doctor of Medicine program at VCU are eligible to apply for admission to select master's programs administered by the School of Medicine. Students should contact the director of the master's program of interest and the director of the M.D. program for additional information including eligibility requirements and application instructions. A student in the M.D. program admitted to a master's program is eligible to enroll after completing their second year of M.D. training; will typically complete the master's degree in 12 months during which they are on hiatus from their M.D. training; and will then return to their M.D. training. Students might be eligible for support for graduate tuition, fees and a stipend while completing the master's program.