

INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN AND TECHNOLOGY, MINOR IN

The minor in instructional design and technology is designed to provide students in any major with the knowledge and skills to develop online learning as part of their job responsibilities. As more organizations are moving learning to digital platforms in almost every field, knowledge of instructional design and technology can enhance job opportunities. This minor will provide students with additional needed skills in their chosen profession.

The minor in instructional design and technology requires 18 credits hours, consisting of:

Course	Title	Hours
ADLT 301	Adult Learning Theory and Practice	3
ADLT 302	Basics of Instructional Design for Adult Learners	3
ADLT 304	Designing Online Learning for Adult Learners	3
ADLT 305	Technology for Learning and Development	3
ADLT 405	Project Management in Learning and Development	3
ADLT 407	Culture and Instructional Design	3
Total Hours		18