

HEALTH EDUCATION, MINOR IN

The minor in health education is meant to allow students to further explore educational theories and practices specific to health education. Students who complete this minor will be prepared to pass the Certified Health Education Specialist exam, a nationally recognized certification. This minor will not meet the requirements needed for teacher licensure in the state of Virginia as outlined by the Virginia Department of Education. For information regarding licensure, please contact the School of Education's Student Services Center (<https://soe.vcu.edu/current-students/student-services-center/>).

The minor in health education requires 18 credits hours, consisting of:
